

Lesson Plan Formation Overview - Art

Imaging Partnership is pleased to offer a service to art teachers to help create bespoke lesson plans to their specific requirements and needs. The lessons plans will focus on the integration of photography into the curriculum. Discussions on the aims and requirements of the lesson plans can be completed with visits to the school and remotely through emails and phone calls to ensure the final products meet the exact requirements for the school. Experienced and talented photographers will work together to create the best lesson plans that interest, challenge and engage students.

Aims of lesson plans:

- Offering creative and unique ways for students to learn using photography as the main tool.
- Meeting the needs set by the teacher.
- Giving students the opportunity to learn basic photography techniques. i.e. composition, lighting, movement, depth.
- Focusing on the integration of photography into the chosen subject.
- Meeting all requirements set by the examining board.
- Motivating students to fully engage in the lesson.
- Promoting and nurturing each student's creativity.
- Challenging students to achieve their full potential.
- Promoting individual learning and group work.
- Options to stretch more able students to achieve their potential.
- Options for additional help to students with special educational needs.
- Ensuring the lessons are accessible for all students.
